WE NOMINATE

The 300-plus Princeton women who—together with their husbands, daughters, sons and last-minute volunteers from “next door”—made possible last week’s eminently successful Mothers’ March on behalf of the expanded program of The National Foundation. In carrying through an intensive doorbell-to-doorbell solicitation for The March of Dimes, which in 1959 has broadened its attack to include arthritis, birth defects and virus diseases, the organizers and their workers compiled a record that may well be without equal for any area of Princeton’s size in the dozen or so states comprising the northeastern corner of these United States.

It is now quite apparent, on the basis of almost-complete returns, that the “marching mothers” in the seventh successive winter Greater Princeton has supported a Mothers’ March erased all previous local marks by collecting some $5,500. This compares with less than $4,000 a year ago and an all-time high of approximately $4,200. The same evening last week in Trenton (estimated population: 128,000) the Mothers’ March produced some $8,000, while another Mercer County municipality, with more than twice Princeton’s population, came up with $4,100.

The low-pressure “March”, covering Dutch Neck, Penns Neck and Princeton Junction neighborhoods as well as Princeton Borough and Township, was organized under the generalship of a 28-member executive committee which held its one and only organization meeting early last month. A thousand telephone calls later the effort had been so carefully planned that 90 per cent of the March on January 27th was “in” within the space of three hours, with the “counters”, including members of the Kiwanis Club, doubting the accuracy of their count as the report-by-report tally climbed past the $5,000-mark.

Each member of the appointed executive committee assumed full responsibility for a given geographic area, while four mothers—Mesdames Duncan C. Augustine, Arthur T. Fenton, Judson D. Kurtz and Raymond C. Woodrow—served as coordinators, pulling together the myriad loose ends of an all-amateur campaign. For instance, Mrs. Woodrow, the mother of three and a polio victim, supervised the entire sprawling residential area west of the “Bayard Lane-Springdale Road line.”

In turn, the coordinators give all credit to their fellow “Admirals of the March”: Mesdames Henry Abrams, Samuel D. Atkins, Elias T. Baker, John Brinster, Lester Clee, J. G. Copeland Jr., K. C. Cromwell, Braxton Ellerbee, R. T. Frost, S. J. Konefsky, David Lilienthal Jr., Richard G. Macgill, William Miller, W. Peskin, D. B. Quigley, John B. Redding Jr., Graham Rohrer, Warren A. Schenck, Robert Van De Velde, Philip J. Wainford, Frederic H. Wandelt, Howard J. White Jr., Stanmore V. Wilson and J. C. Young.

For dramatizing for all of Princeton one of the country’s most appealing fund-raising undertakings; for placing obligations to others far above matters of personal concern; for giving of themselves so that others might have opportunities to give; these 300-plus women are Town Topics’ nominees for

WINTER NOTE

Don't Rally the Flags, Boys! A serious dilemma confronts Borough Sgt. Peter J. McCrohan this week. The leader of recreational pursuits in the Princeton community and a lover of fun for the area's youngsters, he isn't sure how he's going to let skaters know when there's ice on Carnegie Lake in the future. For years, the good sergeant has been raising a white flag (with red dot) at Nassau and Witherspoon Streets whenever safe skating prevails on the lake. University students like to take the flags to their rooms for decoration, however, and now Sgt. McCrohan's original gross of flags is depleted.

"We ran out last week end," the sergeant reported, "and the police desk received over a hundred calls asking why there wasn't any skating, since the weather was so cold. The problem of replacing poles for the flags isn't difficult, but my wife had to make the latest flag — and I don't think she can keep up with the students."

Sgt. McCrohan noted that the flag is a favorite target of the culprits because they think it's a Japanese flag. "What can we do?" the recreation leader asked. "It's also the international safe-skating emblem."

"YELLOW FEVER"

On Commuters' Sick List. Already the victims of such well-known maladies as Junction partyitis and FRB fare plague, Princeton commuters this week learned that "yellow fever" has been let into their sick list. Starting Monday, anyone who parks between the white, center line on University Place and a

Don't Dial "O" For Fire!

Fire conditions being what they are in these days of brisk winds and icy conditions, leaders of the Princeton Volunteer Fire Department this week urged Princetonians to know what number to call in case of fire. Above all, DON'T dial "O" for "Operator" in case of a blaze, they stressed.

Residents of Princeton Borough should keep their Police Department number (WA 4-3141) near their phones and dial it when a fire starts. Residents of Princeton Township should call their Police Department (WA 4-3105). When darkness prevents proper dialing or the correct police number isn't remembered, the caller should dial "O" and ask for either "Princeton Borough Police" or "Princeton Township Police."

Explaining the problems in case of improper dialing, the firefighters said most of the phone operators today work out of Trenton and, quite locally, connect emergency calls with either the Trenton Fire Department or the Trenton Police. If the caller says merely, "Give me the Princeton Police," he may be connected with the Princeton State Police Barracks on U. S. 1. To avoid costly delays, correct procedure should be followed, the fire leaders emphasized.

new, yellow line — 25 feet south end east of the center line — will be ticketed for illegal parking.

Actually, the commuters should not dread this new restriction; many of them have been parking, haphazardly near the downtown station for a long time and should welcome the safety-promoted change in Borough policy. As Acting Chief Raymond Mondone pointed out this week, chaotic parking procedures at the foot of University Place have created traffic and fire hazards too long.

Borough authorities, who studied the complicated question of parking in the area of University Place near the station before reaching a decision, admitted they don't know who owns some of the property — but decided to impose safety regulations anyhow. Determination of ownership is not an immediate necessity, since recent parking practices have caused a "public nuisance," or enough for enforcement of a parking limit to keep drivers from obstructing the right of way.

Final determination of property ownership will rest with the Borough attorney and Mayor and Council. When it has been determined, a new form of ordinance regulating parking and traffic in the area will be adopted.

At last week's meeting of the Borough Safety Committee, which endorsed the new University Place plan, other downtown traffic matters also were discussed. It was decided that Mercer Street Extension, the small segment of street between the "Island" and TOWN TOPICS, should be used only by motorists making a right on University Place, to avoid congestion at the University-Nassau intersection. This idea will not be effective until a second exit for the University-Nassau parking lot has been constructed at the southern end of the lot — for persons heading toward Nassau.

The committee members agreed that the Bayard Lane-Avanti Place intersection is a "dangerous one" and should be given serious attention at once. With other traffic problems still over town, they decided Nassau's major maladjustments can wait until more difficult arteries have been cleared.

Baldino, 139 Mountain Avenue, popular Township Hall maintenance man who proved effectively this past week he can also manage a "recreation" in other departments when he became the first Princeton Recreation Center bowler in memory to qualify a second year for the round-robin finals of the Trenton Times Match Game Bowling Tournament. Posting a fine 844 block, including the week's high game of 278, the steady legler finished the elimination round in fifth place and now must battle nine others through 30 games to determine the tourney winner (who will go to the Peter Petersen Classic at Chicago).

ROUND-UP

BOROUGH BUSINESS: Acting Police Chief Mondone received a sincere but unusual letter this week from a young applicant, a warty Kansasian who claims "a definite incentive to becoming a police officer" . . . pointing out that "some cities do not employ people that have had difficulties with the law" . . . the candidate noted that "unfortunately" he is "incarcerated in the Kansas State Penitentiary at the present time" . . . It seems the writer, who considers the Princeton force a "fine police organization" was convicted of second-degree murder in 1962 and will be up for review on a 25-year sentence this June . . . incidentally, Chiefs Mondone and Campbell (the last of Princeton Township) attended Governor Meyner's traffic safety conference Tuesday, a lavish affair in Trenton's War Memorial Building that covered every phase of the important subject.

Following Princeton's recent snowfall, Borough police issued 60 warnings to property owners for not clearing their sidewalks of snow and ice within 12 daylight hours after the snow stopped fall-

TOWNSHIP TOPICS: Clerk Joseph R. Nini says the Township budget will be introduced next Monday, with a hike in the municipality's tax rate "inevitable" . . . speaking of taxes, $31,529 in surplus funds from the Township Board of Education's 1957-58 budget will be used to reduce the amount of the budget that must be raised by taxes this year . . . a capital contingency item of 17 cents out of the budget, making its total — to be voted on next Tuesday — $1,071,106 . . . a Township Committee hearing, to consider an alleged ABC violation by Conte's Bar, 339 Witherspoon Street, has been postponed until February 17 on request of the tavern's attorney.

Two out-of-town motorists made life easier for Township police Sunday night by having their side-swipe accident directly in front of Township House on Route 208 . . . just an hour earlier, Clarence J. O'Kane, 57, of 234 Alexander Street, took some of the emphasis off the bridge over Stony Brook by crashing into Harry's Brook bridge on Princeton-Kingston Road . . . not content with the license revocations being imposed on speeders, Magistrate Corrier reiterated this week that he intends to throw a 10-day revocation at all drivers who violate the Township's "stop" sign ordinance.

SHORT SHOTS: Practicing his "quick draw" artistry at the old police target range near the canal, William Dudley Jr., a 20-year-old University student, shot himself above a knee with his .22 revolver Monday afternoon and, thanks to the efforts of a companion, Norman Johnson Jr., was taken hastily to Princeton Hospital . . . two widespread Princeton rumors were flatly denied this week, one concerning the allocation of pupils in the Township schools next fall (undetermined to date) and the other concerning a change in location for the "Pink Elephant" (still scheduled to open at 257 Nassau Street in "about two months") . . . the Mothers' March of Dimes has netted an all-time $8,000-plus (see cover) and the Little Gallery has collected $108 for Princeton High scholarships, a creditable amount since the average donation to see the recent display by Princeton Collections was only 25 cents.

Having been invited to recommend evacuation procedures for fast-growing Van Nostrand Company, the Princeton Volunteer Fire Department has agreed to conduct surveys or fire inspections, free of charge, to determine the sufficiency of exits, extinguishers, etc., in local firms . . . Borough Clerk Robert Mondy will be glad to see that interested concerns are visited by the firefighters . . . Mayor Male's salary as Civil Service president has been raised from $16,000 annually to $20,000, while the salary of William F. Voorhees Jr., 47 Longview Drive, director of New Jersey Investments, has been increased from $15,000 to $17,000 . . . a general alarm at 7:45 Tuesday evening took volunteers to the Graduate College, where students already had managed to douse a brief couch blaze.

TOPICS Of the Town

ELECTIONS TUESDAY

For School Boards. As in the case of municipalities all over the state, Princeton Borough and Princeton Township will elect school board members next Tuesday. Residents will be asked to choose three of four candidates in the Borough and three of six nominees in the Township. Though the hours may vary in other communities, Princetonians in both Borough and Township will be able to vote from 3 to 9 p.m., thereby accommodating commuters and other persons who work late in the day. In the Borough, residents of districts 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 8 will cast ballots at Nassau Street School, while residents of districts 6 and 7 will vote at Whiteoak School. In the Township, all voters will indicate their preferences at Valley Road School.

John S. Donal Jr., 264 Snowden Lane, is the sole incumbent in the Township, as opposed to three incumbents — Mrs. L. W. Loetscher, 74 Mercer Street, Dr. Henry Abrams, Arden Road, and Bryan V. Moore, 30 Quarry Street — in the Borough. J. Van Skillman, 22 Harriet Drive, is the lone challenger in the Borough, as opposed to five newcomers — Leonard M. Hymersling, Jefferson Rd., Joel B. Johnson, 122 Cedar Lane, Glen B. Miller Jr., 233 Russell Road, Richard Pearson, 287 Valley Road, and Dr. Oscar Sussang, 42 Clover Lane — in the Township.

In addition to selecting members for the respective Boards of Education, citizens will have an opportunity to endorse or disapprove of the school systems' budgets for 1959-1960. Roughly, the Borough school budget is figured at $1,100,000, while the Township budget is calculated at approximately $1,100,000.

League Sponsors Forum. Candidates for the two Princeton school boards warned up for next Tuesday's election at an interesting 90-minute session Monday evening in the Nassau Street School auditorium. Almost 100 persons turned out for the meeting, sponsored by the League of Women Voters of the Princeton community, to hear each candidate answer a specific question — and a number of queries fired at the nominees from the floor.

In response to the "canned" question — what is the most pressing problem facing the school boards today? — the candidates came up with generally the same response. Township candidates agreed that proper supervision of growth headaches is the most important subject to be tackled. Borough candidates, with the growth factor pretty well under control, reasoned that maintenance of a high-calibre teaching and administrative staff is the key problem for the coming years.

All candidates in both municipalities, with the exception of Mr. Skillman, were on hand for the informal, voluntary forum. Mr. Skillman, out of town on a business trip, was represented by Robert Nelson, who stressed that the former is "interested in the mental, social, moral and physical development of our children. Because of his interest, training and experience, he is especially interested in the physical plant and physical development of the youngsters.

Questions asked from the floor at the League-organized event brought calm answers, with no blood-letting or difficult controversies in evidence at the gathering. All candidates seemed to concur that consolidation of the two school boards is a vital proposition, and all promised to give it due consideration during the period ahead, when it probably will come under the scrutiny of a professional survey team.

WHAT'S ON THE AGENDA?

Township Committee. When the Township Committee meets on Monday at 8 p.m., its members will consider several items of old and new business.

The 1959 budget will be introduced and a date announced for the public hearing on the budget. The Committee will also consider a request from the West Windsor Township Committee to pass a resolution similar to that passed in West Windsor, asking the Mercer County Board of Freeholders to restrict heavy trucks on Lower Harrison Street from U. S. 1.

Two road-acceptance ordinances will be introduced — for Hun Road and Heather Lane. Bids will be received for construction of Van Dyke Road. Two developers, Princeton Housing Associates and the Sandean Construction Company, will request refunds; Princeton Housing Associates a cash refund and Sandean a reduction in the amount of its performance bond.

There will also be a public hearing in the liquor ordinance amendment recommended by the Alcoholic Beverage Commission. This amendment would clarify the "reasonable limit" allowed a pre-midnight drinker to consume his drink.

Borough Council. A light agenda for next Tuesday's Borough Council meeting at 8 p.m., will consist of the following:

Reports from the Joint Recreation Committee on the possible uses of the Witherspoon Building and from the Princeton Business Association on the Friday evening parking meter experiment. Committee reports will include one on possible preparation of an amended ordinance on rabies control.

A hearing is scheduled on an amendment to the Fire Prevention ordinance covering appointment.

Announcing . . . A CHANGE OF NAME for the Nassau Tavern Hotel

Effective immediately, the Nassau Tavern Hotel will be renamed—

NASSAU INN

Actually, this is not a new name, but a restoration of the designation which identified the original "Nass" for nearly 200 years.

Time changes many things, including the meaning of words. Time has also changed the services and facilities provided by this hotel. They are no longer accurately or adequately described by the modern connotation of the term "lavern".

For several years, the Board of Directors of Princeton Municipal Improvement, Inc. has felt that the "Nass" should have a new name.

By far, the predominate preference of Princetonians who were "polled" proved to be, not a new name, but the revival of the old. It was decided, therefore, to restore the name so rich in historic lore, and return to Princeton its "Nassau Inn".

This, it was felt, is the time for the change, when we are planning new features and added facilities.

When the "Nass" was rebuilt on Palmer Square, in 1937, the architects and builders "transplanted tradition" by carefully preserving the gracious charm of the original Nassau Inn — this will again be done in the forthcoming expansion program.

— Today, the "Nass" provides all modern hotel service, comfort, and convenience, while preserving the colonial atmosphere of the original Nassau Inn — now even the name is the same.

We hope you will approve—

MASON HEADS FUND
 Reeder To Direct Campaign.
 Ralph S. Mason, senior partner in the law firm of Mason, Griffin and Moore, has been elected president of the Princeton United Community Fund for 1959. John M. Reeder of 151 Valley Road (see page 15) was named campaign chairman. Vice-chairman is Clement V. Conole, manager of the Tabulating Card Co., 90 Nassau Street.

Other officers are Fred M. Blalcher, first vice-president; Paul M. Orr, second vice-president; Walter B. Jefferson Jr., treasurer; George J. Adriance, assistant treasurer; Walter H. Scott, secretary and executive director; and Beatrice H. Miers, assistant secretary. New trustees are J. Douglas Brown, LeBaron Foster, Gordon A. Craig, Mrs. D. A. Fruland, Mrs. Leonard Johnson, Hans Kaufman, Mrs. Marion Morse, Robert P. Popkin, Mrs. Richard Schoch.

Gerard M. Lambert Community Service Awards were presented to Mr. Blalcher, chairman of the 1958 campaign, and B. Franklin Bunn, a founder of the fund. Mr. Blalcher reported that $175,000 was raised in the 1958 campaign. This figure is an all-time record for the fund, he said, and the total is expected to climb above $180,000 when last-minute contributions are tabulated.

The Shadow Knows
 Weather clear and cold, Ground hog took his cue: Springtime got cold shadow, Winter hogged his view.
 —FLORIDA-BOUND

There'll be six more weeks of winter, all right, but oddly enough, the Man reports they will be somewhat warmer than normal. February is generally the coldest month of the year (31.7 average temperature) but the thermometer will do better than that: a good part of the time, the long-range forecast indicates.

Precipitation, too, will be above average, as shown by Wednesday's wet of better than half an inch of rain. Slow clearing Thursday and a turn to lower temperature for the weekend; fair and clear Saturday and Sunday.

The fund received contributions from 5,885 persons, also a record. Since 1956, 560 new contributors have been added, Mr. Blalcher said. He reported that all but a few campaign divisions exceeded their totals of previous years.

The largest increase was in the Research Division, headed by Lawrence Benson and William Davidson. Teams in this division reported $26,094, an increase of $5,911 over 1957. The Business Division as a whole accounted for more than $30,000.

The Education Division, under Paul Chesebro, reported $4,804, an increase of 40.4 per cent over last year's $1,385. Mr. Chesebro pointed out that every school and college in the area provided substantial increases. Princeton University, a separate division headed by Howard Stepp, raised $16,834, up 13.5 per cent from 1957.

Seventy-six special Citations of Achievement certificates were awarded to business and organizations making outstanding contributions to the drive. Wednesday's annual dinner meeting at the YM-YWCA was attended by 180 members of the Fund.

News Of The THEATRES

PLAYERS TO END RUN
On Highly-Successful Note. The final two performances of "Under Milk Wood," the Princeton Community Players' current production, will be staged Friday and Saturday evenings at the Alexander Street Playmill. Curtain-time for the Dylan Thomas drama is 8:30.

Another good house last Friday was followed by a second Saturday night standee attendance. Prospective play-goers this weekend are advised to obtain tickets early (for information, see advertisement, this page). Every effort will be made by the Players to accommodate late-comers.

Long-time observers of the Princeton theatrical scene credit a variety of circumstances for the unusual success of "Milk Wood," a finely-written drama which depends on unique character portrayal delving alternately into humor and pathos—rather than on action—for its continuing appeal.

First, of all was the decision to stage the play on three successive Fridays and Saturdays, eliminating the harder-to-sell Thursday nights and Saturday matinees. An SRO audience the first Saturday night was best proof of the wisdom of that decision. Estimates of the actual appeal of the Thomas drama vary from luke-warm to the starry-eyed, but there is virtual unanimous agreement on the production's strongest points. The 14-member cast is one of the best assembled by the Players in their 25-plus years on the Princeton scene, and the top-flight direction of John Becker, including a number of astute innovations unknown to the late author, were a guarantee of success the moment the house lights first darkened.

BEWITCHING KIM: James Stewart finds Kim Novak's advances a bit mysterious in "Bell, Book and Candle," much-heralded comedy currently on view at the Playhouse.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Bell, Book and Candle (February 5-10), an elegant, enchanting piece of escapism when it played on Broadway, makes the transition to Technicolor cinema in hilarious shape. In fact, this hocus-pocus tale of modern witches and witchcraft is even funnier for the screen than it was on the stage. Adapted adroitly from John Van Druten's hit play by Daniel Thaddeus and directed with deft tongue-in-cheek by Richard Quine, "Bell, Book and Candle" offers one of the most amusingly confusing and rib-tickling ridiculous movie to come out of Hollywood in a long spell.

James Stewart, climbing out of Western togs and returning happily to the comedy style which gained him early film fame, surpasses himself as the bewitched book publisher who serves as the foil for all the foolish skullduggery. Kim Novak, in her top role to date, proves beautifully bewitching, while Jack Lemmon, as Miss Novak's brother, a tongue-beating warlock (male witch), is outstanding. Lending other keen performances to the production are Ernie Kovacs, as the author of a book on witchcraft; Elsa Lancaster, as Miss Novak's pixilated witch-aunt; and Hermione Gingold, known as the high priestess of witchcraft.

Rally 'Round the Flag, Boys! (February 11-17) gives the Playhouse its second successive comedy hit, this one concocted in mod fashion by that cinemadignician, Leo McCarey. The talented producer-director, responsible to so many delightful films in bygone days, is at his best in promoting fun from the best-selling novel by Max Shulman. He is aided in the promotion by a well-chosen cast—Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward as a mismatched suburban couple, Joan Collins as their seductive neighbor, Jack Carson as a civilian-hating Army captain, etc., etc.—and the effective use of CinemaScope and DeLuxe Color.

For those who missed the book, "Rally" deals amusingly with the marital problems of a young Connecticut couple, emphasizing, of course, the farcical aspects of the situation. Newman becomes involved with Miss Collins, lonely with her husband out of town, then gets in deeper when, on an abortive visit to the Pentagon to represent his community, he is followed by Miss Collins, without his knowledge, and discovered with her in his hotel room by Miss Woodward. Meanwhile, Carson is busy attempting to establish a "Top Secret" base in the Connecticut town—an attempt which meets strong opposition on all points. McCarey once again is well worth rallying 'round, boys!

THE GARDEN

Inspector Maigret (February 5-7) in French with English titles, a fine tale actor Jean Gabin again cast as George Simenon's resourceful sleuth, this time confronted with a series of fiendish stabbing murders. The unflinching killer, it is learned, persistently strikes at dusk and his victims are plump brunette women. The harassed gendarmes, desperate to find the elusive stabber, dispatch policemen to key points.

MUSIC In Princeton

PRINCETONIANS PLAY

As Soloists and Orchestra. The Princeton Symphony Orchestra and soloists showed Monday night what can be done by a group of highly skilled amateurs who love to make music.

The stars of the evening were, of course, Louise Strunsky and Sylvia Nichols who shared applause for their performance of the Poulenc Concerto in D Minor for Two Pianos and Orchestra.

The Concerto is a bag of fireworks and the soloists set it off in splendid style. It is possible that some sober citizens wished that all of the work that went into the Poulenc might have gone into something more substantial, but the Concerto is a magnificent showcase for the virtuosity of Mrs. Strunsky and Mrs. Nichols, and the audience had a wonderful time.

The Poulenc makes certain requirements in the way of digital dexterity and timing, and with Mr. Harsanyi, the two soloists met them all. Their precision and technique were particularly evident in the first movement, the allegro, where a series of staccato piano notes must synchronize perfectly with pizzicati.

It was a genuine personal triumph for Mrs. Strunsky and Mrs. Nichols; their performance and the music they played were as dazzling as their Chinese red gowns.

M. Poulenc's concerto was flanked by Vivaldi's Concerto Grosso in D Minor and the sixth symphony of Schubert. In the Vivaldi, three other soloists performed with precision, competence and grace. Helen Tass and Joseph Kovacs, violins; David Wells, cello and Alden Ashforth, harpsichordist (an unobtrusive, inaudible harpsichordist) formed a spirited concertino.

The Schubert symphony—music that always seems to wear a tune—was interesting because it showed how disciplined an ensemble the Princeton Orchestra has become under Mr. Harsanyi's direction.

He has a collection of people almost as heterogeneous as the Poulenc concerto itself, and he has disciplined it until it performs as a homogeneous unit. He is fortunate, of course, because he has the unusual resources of the Princeton community; nevertheless, he deserves tremendous credit.

He took the orchestra through the Schubert symphony with a presto that was really a presto, and with a vigorous allegro he brought this fine Princeton concert to a fine conclusion.

CLEVELANDERS TO PLAY

In Princeton Next Monday, One of Princeton's favorite orchestras, the Cleveland Orchestra, will play in McCarter Theatre beginning at 8:30 p.m. under the direction of George Szell.

The orchestra's 100 members will play Beethoven's Coriolanus Overture, Op. 62; Schumann's "Sylvan" Symphony, No. 1 in B-Flat; and Strauss' "Death and Transfiguration." All seats for the concert have been sold, but standing room will be available for 50 people at $1.50. These tickets will go on sale at 7:30 p.m. the evening of the concert and may not be reserved.

George Szell, a Hungarian by birth, was trained in Vienna. At an early age he was appointed to the staff of the Berlin State Opera by Richard Strauss, the Cleveland conductor settled in the United States shortly after the outbreak of World War II and made his debut as conductor in New York in 1941. He now divides his time between the Cleveland group and the Concertgebouw in Amsterdam, Holland. There are many instances of distinction in the Cleveland Orchestra. The concertmaster plays on a violin made by Antonio Stradivari in 1683. It is known as "The Martinelli." The associate concertmaster plays on a Guarnerius del Gesù, 1742. The orchestra's oldest instrument is a viola made in 1568 by the first of the great Amatis.

UNDER HIS BATON: George Szell will conduct the Cleveland Orchestra in McCarter Theatre next Monday night.

Williams Here Saturday

Although the mezzanine is completely sold out, orchestra tickets still remain for Emyln Williams' solo performance, "A Boy Growing Up," scheduled for 8:30 this Saturday at McCarter Theatre. The British actor, who began a 14-week cross-country tour January 15, will be making his only appearance in this area in his program based on the stories of Welsh poet Dylan Thomas.

During his previous visit to the United States, Williams earned a full set of critical raves. "A Boy Growing Up" was previously acclaimed by McCarter audiences in October, 1957. Then, as in the case of his return engagement, Williams came here under the bright banner of impresario S. Hurok.

Tickets for "A Boy Growing Up" will be available at the Princeton University Store through Saturday and at the McCarter box office prior to the performance Saturday evening. The program is being sponsored by the newly-formed Dana Productions, whose next attraction is the highly-touted Kingston Trio. Capitol recording artists, who will appear March 7 in Alexander Hall.

the idea of a decoy only faintly helpful. There is hope in the inspector, however, and he finally tracks down the killer—though only after encountering as diversified a roster of sideights and character developments as was found in many a contemporary suspense story.

Nine Lives (February 9-14), in Norwegian with English titles, is a much-lauded motion picture import about an amazing escape from Artic Norway. An Academy Award nominee, it has also been honored at six international film festivals—Cannes, Berlin, Edinburgh, Vancouver, San Sebastian and Cork—and is the recipient of Parents Magazine's Gold Medal Award. Featured are Henny Moen, Jack Feldstad and Alf Halnand.

STOCK UP ON PALM

Low on Staples? The Nassau Delicatessen, with an understandable concern for everybody's larder, has laid in a good supply of canned hearts of palm. You know how it is when you run out of these staples: neighbor drops in for an unexpected cup of coffee and you're all out of palm hearts. Well, stock up now while the supply lasts.

The Del. offers its heart to you for 79 cents, three for $1.59. How can you resist?

The brimming delicatessen on Palmer Square now has its own specialty teas and you save quite a bit of money when you buy them instead of standard brands. You have a choice of English Breakfast, Lapsang Suchong, Jasmine, Darjeeling, all at 95 cents for a four-ounce black and gold box. If you prefer tea-bags, the Del. has its own blend of orange pekoe and Darjeeling teas done up in tea-bags and sold at 69 cents for 48.

Now, if you really want to experiment with teas, buy the pure Pfefferminze and make yourself a fragrant cup of peppermint tea. Very good, so they say, for uneasy stomachs.

What did you last have liver-dumping soup? We thought so. The West German firm of Ezo now packages a liver-dumping soup mix ("Just add water") and several other tantalizing dehydrated soups. How about semolina with smoked meat and vegetables? Good for a wintry lunch. Or pea with smoked meat and bacon?

You might like Hungarian goulash or shell noodles with vegetables or Italian rice soup. There is asparagus, too, for conservatives.

Two other West German products appear to fill out that larder you're worried about. Both of them are honeys: a feenel honey and "lannenhonig", which is, if you don't know German but do remember your Christmas carols, a honey that comes from pine trees. (Yes, junior we know the honey comes from bees; it's where the bees have been that makes the honey flavory.)

We don't know where the bees were that made some new rum and brandy sauces. Pour them over half a canialoupe, or over strawberry shortcake (well, that's what the label says) or just spoon out of the jar and eat.

For Wine Lovers

Claridge Wine and Liquor, Inc., Princeton Shopping Center, has just acquired a splendid collection of chateau-bottled wines which it is offering at very low prices. So if you have estate bottled tastes and a vin ordinaire wallet, this is your chance.

For example, from the Medoc, a Chateau Lynch Bages, a Chateau Lynch Bages, a Chateau au Longueville at the same price. For $2.98, you may have a sauternes (premier cru) from Chateau Guiraud. A great one from Chateau Carbonneux is $2.19, and another sauternes, this one from Chateau Dolsy, is $2.98. Vedrine, (1953) is $2.98.

Gong back to the Medoc—our theme, the Haut-Medoc this time—try the Marquis de Terme at $2.49. An estate-bottled Benjamins Brouilly (1955) is $1.79.

Rafetto, the jam and jelly man, has begun to watch his wasteline. He now has about half a dozen preserves with a low-calorie count. Choose 1/2 lb. of seedless black raspberry, currant, grape, apple, strawberry jelly, blackberry preserve. Price is 49 cents a jar.

One of the Del's most enticing new acquisitions is a Bavarian mint from the house of Bauer. This is a little cube of solid chocolate, firm to the bite, and flavored entrancingly with just enough mint to give it pliancy. Comes in quarter, half and full pound boxes, but in regard the largest box as the only sensible purchase. You'll empty it fast enough as it is.

Outlook: Frosty. Spring is a d summer jewelry looks like frost upon a windowpane. The new bracelets, chokers, necklaces and earrings at The Curmishop, 96 Nassau, are pastels or pastel colors but they have, in many cases, an underlay that give them a frosty look.

Take, for example, a two-inch wide bracelet made of frosted glass, a pale blue, pale violet or pale amber. The bracelet is flexible so that the beads reflect the light, but softly.

Other beads have the frosty gleam of pearls. They have been arranged in three-strand chokers, or in single-strand necklaces which can be lengthened or shortened. We liked a three-strand one with coral, olive, malise and chartruse strands. You can wear that one with anything.

Another is a single string of bright, granulum-colored beads, and still another combines shades of violet and purple. There's a choker which goes straight around the Adam's apple. It's made of flat little ovals in grey shades, or shades of coral, or violet, or almost any color you choose. Earrings and bracelets match.

For a tropical summer day, take a cluster of fruit and wear it for an earring. Or wear little straw hats and tassels or, for more formality, a crusted cluster of which shells, pearls and rhinestones, all tinted a pale pink. There's a dangling bracelet to match.

If you like rococo jewelry, you'll wear the silver and rose bracelet and necklace made of linked oblongs. A coach-and-four has been traced on the oblong with the silver. The rectangular shape appears again in a set of square earrings and oblong bar pin. The Scroll design is wine red and gold. Matching bracelet is a snake of plain gold, with an oblong on the end.

SUCCESS STORY: With the world at their feet and crowns on their heads, Witherspoon School's King and Queen of the March of Dimes posed for this "victory picture" after being elected by their fellow pupils. Rae Chafey, 52 Wiggins Street, is Queen, while the King is Larry Ferrara, 42 Jefferson Road. Some $78 was raised throughout the school, under the direction of Mrs. Viola Connelly, faculty adviser for Witherspoon's Drive Committee. (Alan Richards Photo)

Clutch bags made of straw are this spring. One is black, one is white, both have rhinestones strung across the frame. A tote bag made of straw has five flat rosettes in red, violet and pink arranged symmetrically on its side. Bamboo circles provide handles.

A dark straw bag has one flat red rose to brighten its life. Another straw tote provides the background for some precise green leaves. Ladies with an informal approach to life will like the round bag woven of wood and straw with a dark brown leather top, rope handle and leather grip.

Tucks, Stripes and Peppers. A new blouse is a good one for a winter day. Harris' Department Store on Witherspoon Street has new ones from Ship's Store and Miss Fashionable. S. and S. produces one that is faintly red-ecent. Its colors are subdued but when they catch the light, they come to life.

One is pale olive with black daisies, another is greyed rust. There is a smoky blue and an off-green, all with daisies. This is an over-blossom with short sleeves for $3.98.

A fabric called "Surraire" is soft like batiste but with a polish that gives it body. The pattern is a stripe alternating with a solid-color stripe. You'll find brown, red and blue.

Another S. and S. blouse is white with Edwardian tucks dovetailing on its bib, and there's a white one that looks almost like damask. It has tucks radiating out from its collar. You may have this in pastels, too.

Miss Fashionable puts big blue and red peppers, apples and assorted pieces of fresh fruit on a white shirt. Harris' provides a royal blue wool skirt that matches, precisely, the blue of those peppers.

Red oak leaves glow against the white background of another Miss Fashionable shirt. And there are red rambling roses (or yellow) on the white of the last one in the collection. All these have roll-up sleeves and shirt collars.

In the shoe department, Harris has a collection of pumps for $4.95. They are plain classics, some with a slightly pointed toe. You'll find an audacious red one for spring, and a black one to see you through winter.

Flats in the shoe department are $2.95, one with a surprising rounded toe. Others are pointed. Most of these little flat shoes are very plain with perhaps a flat bow on one side. A navy blue shoe has a pearl button on its quiet bow.

House cottens are stand-bys in this store, as you know. For $3.98 you may choose from a rack-full of half sizes or standards, like the maize cotton with horizontal facings. For $5.95, there is a pale blue (bright green) with cap sleeve and boat neck.

New buy shirts on the other side of the store. There is the Tru-Val white drip-dry cotton for $2.95, its partner in Oxford cloth for $3.95. Long-sleeved sport shirts in dark prints are $2.95. Colors are ruby, chocolate, powder blue, all in narrow stripes flecked with a dot or diamond.

clude the discovery of the principles of the traveling-wave tube, now widely used in microwave communications and radar.

Honored with Lindenblad was a former Princetonian, Dr. Lorne D. Armstrong, now a Senior Engineer with the RCA Semi-conductor and Materials Division at Somerville, who was singled out for outstanding contributions to the design and development of transistors and other semi-conductor devices.

DRIVER HELD

For Fatal Accident, Ernest Anderson, 22, of Trenton, who claimed for almost a month that he was a passenger in, not the driver of, Princeton's only death car of 1958, was ordered held for the Mercer County Grand Jury this week without bail. In special session of Township Court on Monday, Magistrate Louis R. Gerber ruled that Anderson should be bound over in connection with the Washington Road auto accident December 30 that instantly killed a teen-age Hopewell girl.

For several weeks in Princeton Hospital, and for two weeks after his release, the defendant maintained he was not behind the vehicle's wheel when the tragedy occurred. He started to take a lie detector test last week, however, and reportedly broke down and admitted he was the driver before the test could be given. Magistrate Gerber said Anderson should be "kicked off the road," citing his "terrible" driving record—which now includes a reckless driving charge here in addition to the Grand Jury action.

Work 'Em Harder!

Children who attend Quarry Street school would do well to keep a wary eye on their parents.

In a recent questionnaire on homework, there were more parents who thought the load too light than parents who considered their children overburdened. Of course, most parents thought the homework load was about right, which ought to be reassuring.

Of the 266 parents polled, 208 replied—a 72% return. Most of these—146—thought the homework load was fair. Seven made no comment at all. But 35 percent thought the books didn't come home often enough. And only 20 thought they came home too often.

The faculty at Quarry Street has asked parents to keep the school informed if a child seems to have too much homework. Teachers say the homework problem arises from misunderstanding the assignment, doing it much too meticulously, or—of all things, procrastinating.

Maurice Healy Jr. has been elected president of the Family Service Agency for 1958-1959. Other officers are John Archer, vice-president; Mrs. Charles T. Davis, secretary; and William Z. Abrams, treasurer.

Elected to the Board of Directors were Mrs. M. H. Bernstein, Mrs. Rowan Boone, Charles H. Hurford, Robert L. Johnston, Mrs. Herbert S. Langford, Mrs. Courtland D. Perkins, Mrs. William H. Sayen III and Mrs. Joseph B. Stevens Jr. Board members with unexpired terms are the Rev. Benjamin J. Anderson, Richard Coleman, Mrs. William K. Evans, Mrs. Harry C. Hart, Thomas F. Huntington and Mrs. Mars-ton Morse.

WATER STUDIES SET

The Princeton meetings, all of which are open to the public, are scheduled as follows: Tuesday, February 10, 8:15 p.m., at the home of Mrs. William Angoff, 272 Hamilton Avenue; Wednesday, February 11, 10 a.m., Mrs. Albert Rose, 292 Stockton Street; Wednesday, February 11, 8:15 p.m., Mrs. Oscar Sussman, 42 Clover Lane; and Thursday, February 12, 1:15 p.m., Mrs. M. A. Mayers, 47 Eglam Lane.

NOT MUSIC TO THEIR EARS: Chester A. Raymond (left), a builder of pipe organs, and C. Wilson Barry, an organ voicer (the person who achieves the type of tones desired), agree on the quality of organ music—and also on the fact that television today is not completely on-key. For their observations, and those of other Princetonians, are Question of the Week below. (Photo by Alan Richards)

Question of the Week

Question: Do you think television is getting better or worse?

Location: Downtown Princeton.

Chester A. Raymond, 37 Palmer Square West, pipe organ builder: Well, to tell you the truth, I don't spend too much time watching TV — there's too much on it that doesn't interest me. I enjoy Ed Sullivan's show and the Chevrolet program with Emah Scher, and I think television's coverage of sports events is improving all the time. In other words, the high points are excellent, but, with so much time to fill, there are bound to be too many low points.

Mrs. Emily Mung, 79 Kendall Road, Kendall Park, professional artist: I like television in general, but I'm very emphatic in my belief that children's shows are getting worse, not better.
Most of them are ridiculous.
Youngsters should be able to identify themselves with normal youngsters. TV is full of too many people they can't be. There should be more instructive-type programs.

Charles F. J. McHugh, 19 Morgan Avenue, Princeton University professor: It's noisy — it's gotten to a point where blunder-thunders are too routine. Repetition is supposed to build strength, but, in the case of TV, repetition is for the birds. It's the same stuff we saw in the movies as sixth graders. I must admit it's nice to watch at night
— I don't have to watch it!

Miss Linda Salkin, Washington Road, Linden Neck, sophomore at Princeton High School: Some of the stuff is getting better, yes; but a great deal of it seems to be going to the dogs. For one thing, the movies on TV aren't up-to-date enough. For another thing, those awful commercials are driving me out of my mind!

PRINCETON'S FIRST AND FINEST DRY CLEANER

C. Wilson Barry, North Post Road, Princeton Junction, pipe organ voicer: Frankly, I never see television very much. I don't even own a set. I'm not interested enough in it to buy one. From what I hear, it is getting better. However, I still don't think it's good enough to invest in it.

Mrs. James G. Affleck, 468 Riverside Drive, housewife: My husband and I don't even watch TV any more — and, in fact, the children don't either. Oh, occasionally, there are a few important programs we make a point of seeing, but they are few and far between. When the "season" began last fall, there was such a miserable choice of shows, we all took up reading — and it looks as though we will continue reading for quite awhile!

Mrs. S. Glenn Ellis, Alexander Road, housewife: Quite frankly, we don't watch enough to make a comment one way or the other.
There are some very good programs on Sunday afternoons which we do see once in awhile, though. On the other hand, our dog likes "Iassie," and I find the TV set invaluable when I'm asked to babysit for a neighbor!

Mrs. Norman B. Jackson, 638
Lake Drive, housewife: I enjoy what I watch on TV — and I watch a good deal. The morning quiz programs are a lot of fun, and my husband is partial to Westerns in the evening. Our two-year-old loves "Captain Kangaroo" and the other children's programs. So, all in all, we're quite happy with the "small screen," and I think the quality of the programs has remained about the same.

Mrs. Winifred S. Niles, 35 Jefferson Road, housewife: Well, I'm not much of a television addict to begin with, but I do make a point of watching certain programs such as Ed Murrow's and The Firestone Hour. I see an occasional play or comedy, but I don't care for the detective stories. As to whether television programming is better or worse than it used to be, I still feel I could give TV up forever and not miss it! The great problem, I think, is what's on television for children when they are at an impressionable age. It's so very hard to control what they watch.
In fact, I know one family who got rid of their set for that reason, and their children are much better off now playing games or reading than watching TV.

Male's "Failures" Listed

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I am releasing herewith a copy of a letter to Mayor Male. Because of the importance to the citizens of having these citizen boards functioning properly, I feel that my censure of the Mayor is in order.

"Mr. Arthur Morgan's open letter to you published in two of our three local papers (Town Topics, Feb. 1-7) relative to your failure to make appointments to vacancies on the Boards of Health, Planning and Zoning is unduly restrained. I intend to call a spade a spade.

"During the past 35 years Princeton has been served by eight Mayors, four Democrats and four Republicans. I challenge you to cite any other administration whether Republican or Democratic when appointments to these or any other boards have been so flagranty mishandled as in the past year.

"You can call this letter politically inspired or anything you wish but you cannot deny the following facts:

- "1. You have failed to fill 2 vacancies on the Planning Board which have existed for more than 7 months. One of these, as you know, is filled upon recommendation of the Board of Education. That Board recommended Mr. W. L. Dennison last spring. He has been attending Board meetings regularly as an interested and helpful spectator but in the embarrassing position of a nonmember-spectator.
- "2. You have failed to fill two vacancies on the Board of Health.

"3. You have failed to fill one vacancy on the Zoning Board. In the case of the one you did fill by the appointment of Mr. Farr you failed to consult him or ask him whether he would be willing to serve on this Board. You simply proposed his name on New Year's Day with no advance warning to him.

"4. You have failed to notify anyone of the 5 members of these Boards whom you did not wish to resignant that you were not going to continue them and you even failed to so much as write any one of them a thank you note for their many years of unselfish non-partisan service to the community.

"You have failed—period. Most people wouldn't even run a railroad that way."

CHARLES R. EDMAN, JR.
20 Boulevard Street

Editor's Note: In a supplementary memo to Town Topics, former Mayor Edman comments: "It would seem very shortsighted not to have re-appointed such citizens as the following, all of whom were dismissed while still willing to serve the community: Mrs. Walter Beers, Dr. C. M. Franklin, Kenneth Kessler, Arthur P. Morgan, Prof. A. K. Parpart, Dr. D. A. Pickering, William Walker, John P. Woodridge."

AFS SEEKS HOMES

For Foreign Students. The American Field Service is currently seeking homes in Princeton for foreign students who will be here next year. Those interested in playing host are invited to notify the Princeton committee chairman, Mrs. George Fremont, Western Way, WA 4-608.

Homes for next year must be selected before students can be assigned to Princeton. Since the foreign students will be entering the senior class at Princeton High School or Miss Fine's School, the committee prefers to place them with families of high school seniors or seniors. Care is taken to match the interests of the foreign student with those of the host family.

Families entertaining AFS students this year are: Dr. and Mrs. Sterling Brackett, 101 Red Hill Road, hosts to Francoise Malgou of France; Mr. and Mrs. William Schneider, 133 Lillian Place, hosts to Guliz Sarnat of Turkey; and Mr. and Mrs. E. BUSINESS In Princeton

"NASS" CHANGES NAME

From Tavern to Inn. The Nassau Tavern, which has, in its various locations, been a Princeton landmark for 200 years, will be known from now on by its original name, "The Nassau Inn."

Fred M. Blacher, president of Princeton Municipal Improvement, Inc., owners of the Inn, said that the change has been under consideration for some time.

"During the past 20 years, the connotation of the word 'tavern' has changed," Mr. Blacher pointed out. "It no longer properly describes the extensive service and facilities offered by the hotel." F.M.I. spokesmen said that the word "tavern" has frequently provided misleading to out-of-town organizations which were looking for meeting accommodations.

The original Nassau Inn was built as a private home in 1757 and was converted to a "public house" about ten years later. It was the overnight stop on the stage journey from New York to Philadelphia and at times as many as 30 stages arrived or departed in a single day.

The old Inn, which stood where Skirwin's is now, was razed in 1938 when Palmer Square was built. The new structure was reopened in 1937 as The Nassau Tavern.

Historians disagree as to the exact date the private home of Judge Leonard became the Nassau Inn, but its activities during pre-revolutionary days were well-known. The Inn was a popular rendezvous for both royalists and rebels long before the two factions came to blows.

When the new "Nass" was built in 1937, great pains were taken to preserve its traditional charm and colonial atmosphere. In its forthcoming expansion plans, which were announced last fall, the Nassau Inn plans to continue this policy.

THORNE'S TO EXPAND

Branch Store Announced. Plans to open a store in West Windsor Township were announced this week by The Thorne Pharmacy. The completely-equipped branch will be located on Cranbury Road in Princeton Junction, just across the Pennsylvania Railroad bridge in the new building owned by Cray Dry Cleaners.

Expectations are that the pharmacy will open in March, as close to the first of the month as possible. More than 1100 square feet of retail space will feature all types of merchandise offered by Thorne's on Nassau Street, as well as complete prescription services.

A lease was signed Saturday with John Janick, owner of the dry cleaning firm in whose building the branch will be housed. Paul A. Ashton and E. Everett Campbell, who purchased the Nassau Street pharmacy last spring after it had been managed by Edward A. Thorne and then his widow for more than 30 years, confirmed the expansion plans this week.

"Our decision was motivated by faith in the steady growth of West Windsor," Mr. Ashton said. "We feel certain that this area has a bright future and look forward with much pleasure to becoming a part of it."

A drug store three miles away is the nearest "competition" the new enterprise will have. It's name: The Thorne Pharmacy on Nassau Street.

NURSERYMAN SELECTED

Steelman Will Serve. Clarence H. Steelman, Sr., has been named to the State Board of Agriculture for a four-year term beginning July 1. Mr. Steelman operates the C. H. Steelman Fruit Nursery on Fort Mercer Road, a nursery devoted to the production of fruit trees and small fruit plants.

His nursery is the official source of new variety introductions of the New Jersey Peach Industry Committee and the New Jersey Apple Institute. He is past president of the New Jersey State Horticultural Society and has also served as director of the Tri-County Cooperative Auction Market Association, Inc., Hightstown, and of the New Brunswick Production Credit Association. His son, Clarence, Jr., who is associated with him in the nursery business, was recently elected president of the State Horticultural Society.

REEDER HONOURED

In "Million Club." John M. Reeder, 151 Valley Road, is one of 169 members of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance to be named to the Million Club for providing his clients with more than $1,000,000 of life insurance during 1958. The company has a nation-wide field force of more than 2000 men.

Mr. Reeder, who is a member of the Thomas M. Miner Agency, 143 East State Street, Trenton, was a "500" Club member at the end of his first full year in the life insurance business. He was named Man of the Year in this area in 1955 and 1956 and qualified for the Penn Mutual Million Club in 1956 and 1957, as well as 1958.

MORE SPACE AT W.E.

Research Center Will Expand. Work has begun on an addition to the Western Electric Engineering Research Center on Carter Road. The new structure will provide the Center with 12,500 additional square feet of space. It will be two stories tall, 65 feet deep and 95 feet wide.

Glen R. Simmons, Director of the Center, has announced that John McShain, Inc., of Trenton has been awarded the construction contract. Plans call for colonial design that will complement the existing building. The new wing will be completed in April of this year, according to construction plans.

QUINTET TO TRAVEL

Tigers Face Brown and Yale. A pair of road games on courts that have proved troublesome in the past confront Princeton's title-contending basketball team this weekend. The Tigers will be in Providence to play Brown Friday at 8 and in New Haven the following night at 8:30 to meet Yale. Both contests will be broadcast over the University radio station, WPRB-FM, 103.5 megacycles.

When the Orange and Black played host to Brown and Yale on successive nights last month each game came its way by comfortable margins. Princeton topped the Blue, 71-55, and the Rhode Island quintet, 66-44. If the Tigers can maintain their season shooting average of better than 40%, they'll have no difficulty repeating, but as the climactic games with Dartmouth approach, the pressure will increase.

The Indians drew even with Capry Cappon's five in the standings by trimming Brown at Providence last weekend, 71-59. It was the tall New Hampshire quintet's eighth straight—three of them in a row by just two points. Meanwhile, Princeton was beating Rutgers handily for the second time, taking the return contest in Dillon Gym Saturday, 75 to 48. The victors hit on 41% of their shots and out-rebounded the losers by the unusually wide margin of 60 to 37.

Captain Carl Belz, grabbing 29 rebounds and holding his 6-5 opponent, Karol Strelcki, to two points, gave the day's stand-out performance. Strelcki came into the game as a sophomore stand-out with a 16-point average, but with Belz laying siege to every shot, managed to sink just one of 11. The Tiger captain closed with 18 fouls Cappon sent in his reserves with six minutes left.

Actually, the bench saw more action than in any game played during January. With both Joe Burns and Jim Brangan off their normal shooting form, Mike Burton and Drew Hyland came in to make valuable contributions during the afternoon. Burton accounted for 12 points, joining Carl Belz, Herm Belz (12) and Art Klein (11) in double figures.

ROUGH GAME

Twenty-one Penalties Called. In a rugged contest that at times was out of the control of the officials, the Princeton hockey team lost to Rensselaer Polytech, 6-4, Saturday night at Troy, N. Y. Twenty-one penalties were called as a R.I. player was banished for fighting and Captain Joe Cheston of the Tigers received a ten-minute misconduct.

Pete Cook of Kingston, center on the Tiger line, was the Tiger's big gun, getting two goals and an assist. John Hill and John McBride caged the others, McBride and Lance Odden earning assists.

The Princeton sextet had a surprising 3-2 lead at the end of the first period but yielded three second-period goals. It was trailing only 5-4 with seven minutes left and the final margin was the smallest separating the Tigers from victory in any of the 11 games they have lost this season. (For a report on contests this week against Middlebury and Army, see page 21.)

PHS IN RECORD GAME

But On Losing End. This seems to be a season of records for the Princeton High basketball team—the wrong kind of records. Having lost nine of its first 11 outings and four in a row since edging Round Brook back on January 13, the Blue and White club bow on talented Trenton Catholic last Friday and found itself overwhelmed by the largest total of points ever scored in Inter-scholastic competition in Mercer County.

Netting points virtually at will, the Rev. Clarence O'Shea's visiting Wave collected 35 in the opening quarter, 28 in the second, 32 in the third and 24 in the finale. The visitors led 38-15 after eight minutes, 63-28 by halftime, 95-32 at the three-quarter mark and 119-47 when the last whistle blew. In the course of the debacle, six Catholic players reached double figures and all 11 managed at least four.

Coach Tony Borzok, realizing the Wave's great height edge and overall superiority, decided to try something different in an effort to keep the score close. He positioned what might be called a "bonesome forward," a 5'11" Doug Hayes, under the opponents' basket — and tried to stop the Catholic attack with a four-man zone defense. The strategy failed, the visitors moved through the Little Tigers at will, and Hayes got the ball and was unable to score via the long pass, as the tall Wave dominated both backboards.

PHS was further hampered by the absence of Tony Boccanfuso, still sidelined with a foot infection. The Little Tigers' sole consistent point-maker, Boccanfuso might have been able to close the gap a bit and, in the process, hold Catholic's output under 100. As it was, sophomore Jim Barbour, with a dozen markers, was the only PHS performer in doubles.

This Wednesday (too late for a report here), Princeton faced Eoradentown Military Institute, with the status of Boccanfuso and several other Little Tigers in doubt. Next Tuesday, at 8 p.m., Coach Tony Borzok's ill-fated crew will travel to Ewing for a return match with the Blue Devils, who won a 55-50 overtime thriller here a few weeks ago.

Coach George Povillais' PHS jayvees, defeated 72-40 by Catholic's junior varsity, will meet Ewing's juniors in a 7 o'clock preliminary next Tuesday. Against the Wave, Bill Cranston's 14 points and Jack Hawkins' 10 were high for the Little Little Tigers.

HUN EYES COMEBACK

During Final Month, Beaten six times in its first eight games of the 1958-59 campaign, Hun School's basketball team will try to get even with the world by the end of its regular slate February 21. The road will not be an easy

BOB CLOTWORTHY

Princeton Swimming Coach

From Los Angeles, California, last week came word of the election to the Helms Hall of Fame of Princeton's new swimming coach, Robert L. Clotworthy. Selected for his out-of-the-ordinary record as a diver, Olympic champion, Bob Clotworthy is one of the youngest in his sport to be so honored and is only the 25th to be chosen out of a nation that has consistently produced many of the world's finest athletes in this specialized field.

Clotworthy was barely in his teens when he won his first important title, earning the Union County (N.J.) championship in 1944 and becoming State High School champion a few years later. Similar success at the eastern interscholastic level and then at the State in Big Ten constitution (off both the one-meter and three-meter boards) followed. At Helsinki, Finland, Clotworthy placed third in Olympic three-meter competition; four years later (1954), he won the gold medal in Melbourne, Australia, to cap a fine amateur career that ended when he entered the ranks of swimming coaches with appointment as an assistant at Dartmouth.

Although overshadowed by Yale's perennial eastern champion, Princeton swimming teams in other years have consistently ranked among the leaders in this section of the country. Clotworthy (who joins Cappy Cappon and the late Charlie Caldwell as one of three Princeton coaches honored by election to the Helms Hall of Fame) was brought here to direct the climb back to the top.

It's a long road last year's team won only three of a dozen meets—but an improvement and a better-than-average freshman outfit that has compiled a 4-1 mark and broken a University record lead realistic hope for the future. So do the talents and enthusiasm that Bob Clotworthy has brought to Princeton.

RIFLE CLUB SECOND

Woodward is High Scorer. James Woodward shot a 155-point target to pace the Princeton Junior Rifle Club to a second place showing at the Reserve Armory in Trenton Friday. Post No. 83, Trenton, was the victor, repeating their triumph earlier in the month in the Delaware Valley Junior Rifle League match at Yardley, Pa. Princeton finished third in the earlier match.

In last Friday's shooting, Post No. 93 compiled 777 points, Princeton and 740 and St. Mary's Boy Scout Troop No. 33, Trenton, posted 733. Other high scorers for Princeton were Stan Dohm, 190; Fred Sayen, 184; Robin Alexander, 180; Ralph Gutbrodt, 178, and Frank Cocciolillo, 177. The club is sponsored by the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association.

one for the Red and Black, however, since the "short" club must face no less than three quintets which already have posted triumphs over the Johnny Huns this season.

A team which hasn't met Hun to date, Pliny School, will test the Princeton prep five at 2:30 this Friday afternoon in the Seminary gym, the first home contest since the mid-year examination break. Meanwhile, Coach George Seibel's boys were slated to play Solebury in Pennsylvania this Wednesday, too late for inclusion of a final score in the current issue of Town Times. In December, Solebury defeated Hun, 53-42, here.

Industrial Rare Over. After waging a nip-and-tuck battle with Nassau Del and Cable Tavern for most of the season's first half, Miler & Edwinn this past week claimed the Industrial League's midway crown at Princeton Recreation Center. The victorious team finished with 74 wins, with the rest of the loop posting three final totals: Nassau Del, 71; Cable Tavern, 66; the Reformers, Para Lab Supplies and Cresentins, 60; Nassau Service, 57, and Wenging Construction, 56.

223-198) highlighted individual play among the Industrialists, and also was the top series registered at PRC during the week. Bill Battle's 615 series (121-177-226) was only one of several outstanding performances in the Princeton "B" League, which saw Pete Franks, Buddy Cavanaugh and Gene Simons record 236, 231 and 232 games, respectively. Sarah Huncyatt earned accolades for her 226 game in the Princeton Women's Bowling League.

Other noteworthy scores: Joe Pitzer, 200-21; John Roberts and John Fraze, 210 each; Hal Fraze, 207, and George Wenging, 202-201, in the Industrial circuit; Ralph Hrone, 221; Frank Deluso and Fred Leibert, 209 each, and George Paris, 240, in the "B" loop; Walt Conn, 207; Jack Stool, 205; Vince Salsman, 202; Joe Dabrowski, 201, and George Luck, 200, in the Tri-County Firemen's League; Bill Dumble, 201, in the Princeton "A" League; Peg Brown, 183-183; Marilyn Lowe, 177; Marge Bloom, 175, and Joann Almsworth, 171, in the Women's Industrial League; and Betty Kleiber, 187; Wanda Earls, 181; Elizabeth Brown, 179; Helen Cherry, 177; Myra Nemagh and Janice Vonheisen, 176 each; Sis Kleiforth, 173; Pat Walker and Betty Snyder, 172 each, and Marge Daniels and Dot Ragany, 170 each, in the FWBL.

Team-wise, with second-half races just getting underway, battles in all of the PRC league remained tight. The National Guard (38 wins) stayed ahead of Naul Electric and Jefferson Plumbing (34 apiece) and Tiger Bus in the "B" loop; Decker's and Cifelli's (25 apiece) were tied ahead of Cranbury Inn (24) in the Women's Industrial circuit; the Pin Pushers (24) held a slim lead over Tiger Bus and Betty Wright Shop (22 apiece) in the FWBL; Princeton Engine No. 1 (16) kept an advantage over Princeton Junction (14) in the Tri-County Firemen's League; and Keller Plumbing and Farr Hardware (six apiece) started off in a dead-end in the "A" loop.

An open discussion followed on the history of the Baptist churches provided special music. The Baptist churches participating in the meeting were Calvary, First and Princeton Baptist churches. THEY'D REVERSED
Hockey Team Wins Two, In a sharp form reversal that was greatly to its credit after absorbing 11 defeats, Princeton's hockey team edged Middlebury, 4-3, Monday and then defeated Army decisively, 4 to 1. The Tigers' triumphs hinged on a combination of achievements that had eluded them most of the season: ability to play top-flight hockey in the third period and to turn in a solid defensive performance.

In another rough contest at Middlebury (see page 19 for details on the R.F.I. set-6), 9 penalties were called as the Tigers moved out to leads of 3-0 and 4-1 and then staved off the home team's last-chance rally. Tony Pell and Hugh Scott gave Princeton a pair of second-period goals, with high-scoring Johnny McBride making it 3-0 at 4:30 of the hectic final session.

After Middlebury broke into the scoring column at 11:15, Pete Cook got the goal that proved decisive with seven minutes left. The losers pushed two more into the Tiger cage but could not draw rally in the final round broke up a 1-1 tie and brought victory over a better-than-average academy. Scott, McBride, Captain Mo Cheston and McBride again scored in that order. Topflight play by goalie Barry Van Gerbig marked both victories and the Tigers face Cornell at 8:30 Saturday and Brown here next Wednesday night at 8 with belief that they can now make trouble for any team in the Ivy circuit.
